SOLDIERS STRIKE A HACKDRIVER

Artillerists Attempt to Gain Possession of the Vebicle.

Walter Cook, a private of the Arwomen's circle, tillery Corps at Camp McKinley, and the man who was arrested in connection with the disappearance of "Soldier" O'Donnell's $2,500 a few weeks since, got into trouble again yesterday, and was lodged in jail, charged with lowed up last even- assault and battery. The victim of his assault was Manuel Perry, driver of ers Brown and hack 139. According to Perry, Cook and another soldier, who refused to susehold furniture give his name at the station house, got into his hack and demanded that he Sale will drive them to Waikiki. Both men vere under the influence of liquor. Perry wanted to know if they would pay their fare, and for answer was told to shut up and drive on. Perry refused to move, when Cook companion dealt him several blovs on the head. At the same time they attempted to get the reins. Perry, however, kept the reins away from them, he was then given more blows, accompanied by vile and abusive language. Perry whipped up and drove to the police station. When the soldrive yesterday at- diers were searched a box of "phoney" jewelry, mostly cheap brass rings, was found on one of them.

COLLISION ON WAIKIKI ROAD

Driver Dashes His Buggy Into a Surrey and Demolishes His Own Rig.

Heedless drivers made it a dangerous pastime yesterday for families to take an afternoon ride on the Waikiki bou-Captain Fox arrested one of them, a Hawaiian named Kamuela. This man, accompanied by a young This sale Hawaiian woman, was in a light buggy driving rapidly towards Kaplolani Park. In front of him was a hack, going along the center of the road. When nearly opposite Waikiki Inn, on exhibition all week, Kamuela endeavored to get past the hack, and drove to the left of the veplace at 10 hicle. AGED HAWAIIANS HAIL KAMEHAMEHA

They Decorate the Statue and Sing Their Ancient Meles.

Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock a most interesting thing occurred on the ENU, Kau, June 8 .- A sharp stands the heroic statue of Kamehamemen and true met all the Alils. They surrounded the statue, covered it with lels and banked it with palm leaves and then sang their unusual that it attracted people from every direction. It had never occurred the statue being the poor insane youth who, for a long time past, has made it an object of adoration, believing himself to be the son of the great chief.

After the ceremonies were over yesterday the old Hawaiians were taken home and given a feast of root beer and native
